Subject: FEDERAL CCF changes

Charles,

As a Third-Party Administrator for drug and alcohol testing and employee screening services as well as certified collector, I must say that I am in favor of having the federal chain of custody and control form available via computer generation.

Having accounts with the SAMSHA certified labs and the ability to be able to do everything but the collection from the computer can save valuable time, money and more importantly help employers meet their drug and alcohol testing needs in a more proficient and expeditious manner. I would welcome the "State of Florida" to adopt this for their "Drug Free Workplace Program" standards.

Aside from the forms can you tell me if there are plans in the works to change the allowed drugs to be tested? My concerns grow more and more each day about individuals who are in "safety sensitive" positions putting the public at danger by doing drugs that won't be detected in their screenings.

Thank you for listening.
